LUNAKO is an international architecture and interior design studio based in Barcelona, founded in 2021.

Bringing together over 20 years of combined experience, our team has worked across architecture, interior design, and project development, collaborating with renowned architecture studios and contributing to projects of diverse scales and complexities, both in Spain and internationally.

Our recent work has focused particularly on medium- and large-scale projects in Hospitality, Restaurant, Retail, and public architecture, where design, technical precision, and efficient project delivery come together.

Alongside our architectural and interior design practice, Lunako has developed a strong specialization in Building Information Modeling (BIM). We provide tailored BIM services throughout the project lifecycle, including Scan to BIM, 3D Modeling, BIM Management, Training, and BIM Implementation.

Our approach combines design expertise with advanced digital workflows, enabling teams to work more efficiently, coordinate more effectively, and make better-informed decisions throughout the design and construction process.

We believe BIM is far more than a technological tool. It is a new way of thinking, designing, coordinating, and delivering architecture — and an essential foundation for the future of the built environment.

BIM is more than technology — it is the workflow shaping the future of architecture.
